

Innovative technology that allows flexible labels or emblems to be made with different aesthetic results depending on the textures used in making the emblem.

Products made by this technology can be decorated with as many colours as desired to achieve important aesthetic effects.

