

Technology that allows the production of command plates or aesthetic plates. They can be screen printed, digitally printed or a combination of the two.

The surface can be covered with doming process. Selected areas, such as keys, can be embossed. Thanks to the technology used, the executed print is not affected by colour changes, if it is in contact with external agents such as cleaning liquids.

